

Contents

Foreword by Professor Sir Elihu Lauterpacht CBE QC	v
Acknowledgements	vi
List of Abbreviations	xix
List of Tables	xxii
List of Charts	xxiv
List of Cases	xxvi
List of Treaties and other International Legal Instruments	xxviii
List of Chinese and EC Legislation	xxxiv
Introduction	1
I European Investment in China: Past History and Present Situation	5
I.1 Nationalisation (1949–1957)	7
I.2 Exclusion (1958–1977)	10
I.3 Resumption (1978–1992)	10
I.4 Rapid Increase (1993–1999)	13
I.5 Further Development (2000–)	14
II The Role of Law in the Development of EU Investment in China	17
III Existing Research on the Law of EU Investment in China	19
IV This Book: Purposes, Scope and Research Methods	20
IV.1 Purposes	20
IV.2 Structure	20
IV.3 Definitions	21
IV.4 Research Methods	22
IV.4.1 The Questionnaire	23
IV.4.2 The Interviews	26

Part I The Current Legal Framework of EU Investment in China: The Components	29
1 Chinese Law on Inward Investment	31
1.1 The ‘Opening-up’ Policy and Foreign Investment Law Making in China	31
1.2 The Current Chinese Foreign Investment Law System	33
1.2.1 Composition of the Current Chinese Foreign Investment Law System	33
1.2.1.1 Constitutional Provisions	33
1.2.1.2 National Laws and Regulations	34
1.2.1.3 Sub-National Regulations	35
1.2.2 The Features of the Current Chinese Foreign Investment Law System	37
1.3 The Principal Forms of Investment	39
1.3.1 Equity Joint Venture (EJV)	39
1.3.2 Contractual Joint Venture (CJV)	40
1.3.3 Wholly Foreign Owned Enterprise (WFE)	41
1.3.4 Joint Exploitation (JE)	42
1.3.5 New Forms of Foreign Investment	43
1.3.5.1 Build-Operate-Transfer (BOT)	43
1.3.5.2 Stock Company with Foreign Investment (SCFI)	44
1.3.5.3 Holding Companies with Foreign Investment (HCFI)	45
1.3.5.4 Merger and Acquisition (M&A)	45
1.4 Recent Amendments to Major FDI Laws in China	46
1.4.1 Background to the Amendment	47
1.4.2 The Changed Rules	48
1.4.3 An Evaluation of the Amendments	50
1.5 Further Reform of the Chinese FDI Law System	51
1.5.1 A Unified FDI Code	51
1.5.2 A Universally Applied Company Law	53
1.5.3 An FDI Code plus a Universally Applied Company Law	53
1.6 Conclusion	54
2 EU Law on Outward Investment	55
2.1 The EU’s External Investment Competence	55
2.1.1 The Existence of EC’s External Investment Competence	56
2.1.1.1 Express Competence	57

2.1.1.2	Implied Competence	59
2.1.2	The Exclusivity of the EC's External Investment Competence	62
2.1.2.1	Exclusivity by the Treaty	64
2.1.2.2	Exclusivity by Nature	64
2.1.2.3	Exclusivity by Measures Adopted and Exclusivity by Acts	64
2.2	EU Law and Practice on Outward Investment	65
2.2.1	The EC Treaty	65
2.2.2	EU Policies and Measures on Outward Investment	66
2.2.2.1	General Policy: From the 1972 Proposal to the 2000 Approach	66
2.2.2.2	Unilateral Measures: From ECIP Facility to Asia Invest Programme	67
2.2.3	Community Practice in Concluding International Investment-Related Agreements	70
2.2.3.1	Bilateral Agreements	70
2.2.3.2	Multilateral Agreements	71
2.3	EU Member State Law on Outward Investment	74
2.3.1	The Liberalisation of Outward Investment within EU Member States	75
2.3.1.1	The OECD Codes of Liberalisation	75
2.3.1.2	The OECD Declaration on International Investment and Multinational Enterprises	76
2.3.2	The Promotion of Outward Investment in EU Member States	78
2.4	Towards a Common Community Investment Policy	79
2.5	Conclusion	81
3	International Law Governing EU Investment in China	83
3.1	Sources of International Law Governing EU Investment in China	83
3.1.1	International Treaties	84
3.1.2	Customary International Law	85
3.1.3	General Principles of Law	87
3.1.4	Judicial Decisions	89
3.1.5	Writings of Publicists	90
3.1.6	United Nations General Assembly Resolutions	91
3.1.7	'Soft' Law	92
3.2	Applicable International Treaties on EU Investment in China	93
3.2.1	Bilateral Agreements	94

3.2.1.1	The 1985 EC-China Co-operation Agreement	94
3.2.1.2	Bilateral Investment Treaties between China and EU Member States	95
3.2.2	Multilateral Agreements	96
3.2.2.1	ICSID Convention	96
3.2.2.2	MIGA Convention	99
3.2.2.3	WTO Agreement	103
3.2.3	An Assessment of the Applicable International Treaties	105
3.3	The Interaction between International Treaties and Chinese Law	106
3.3.1	The Relationship between International Treaties and Municipal Law	106
3.3.2	The Reception of International Treaties within the Chinese Legal System	108
3.3.3	The Direct Applicability of International Treaties by Chinese Courts	110
3.4	Conclusion	110
3.5	Conclusion of Part I	111
Part II	The Current Legal Framework of EU Investment in China: Substantive Issues	113
4	Admission	115
4.1	Admission of Foreign Investment under General International Law	115
4.2	Admission of EU Investment in China under International Treaties	116
4.2.1	EU-China BITs	117
4.2.2	WTO Agreement	119
4.2.2.1	TRIMs Agreement	119
4.2.2.2	GATS	121
4.2.3	Summary	123
4.3	Admission of EU Investment in China under Chinese Law	123
4.3.1	Approval Procedures	125
4.3.1.1	Approval Authorities	125
4.3.1.2	Approval Process	130
4.3.1.3	Summary	132
4.3.2	Investment Directions	133
4.3.2.1	Investment Guidance and the Catalogues	134
4.3.2.2	Observations	136

4.3.3	Performance Requirements	137
4.3.3.1	Local Content Requirements	138
4.3.3.2	Export Performance Requirements	139
4.3.3.3	Foreign Exchange Balance Requirements	140
4.3.3.4	Technology Transfer Requirements	140
4.3.3.5	Local Employment Requirements	142
4.3.3.6	Compulsory Joint Venture Requirements	142
4.3.3.7	Special Performance Requirements on Services Investments	143
4.3.3.8	Observations	143
4.3.4	Summary	144
4.4	Conclusion	145
5	Standards of Treatment	146
5.1	Standards of Treatment of Foreign Investment under General International Law	146
5.2	General Standards of Treatment of EU Investment in China under International Agreements	148
5.2.1	Fair and Equitable Treatment (F&E)	148
5.2.2	Most-Favoured-Nation Treatment (MFN)	150
5.2.2.1	MFN Clauses in EU-China BITs	151
5.2.2.2	MFN Clause in the GATS	152
5.2.3	National Treatment (NT)	152
5.2.3.1	NT Provisions in EU-China BITs	153
5.2.3.2	NT Provision in the GATS	156
5.2.4	Non-Discrimination Treatment (ND)	156
5.2.5	More Favourable (Preferential) Treatment	158
5.3	Treatment of EU Investment in China under Chinese Law	158
5.3.1	Non-National Treatment for Foreign Investment	159
5.3.1.1	Inferior-National Treatment	159
5.3.1.2	Superior-National Treatment	159
5.3.1.3	Is the Existing Non-National Treatment Fair and Equitable?	162
5.3.2	Implementing National Treatment for Foreign Investment in China	163
5.3.2.1	The Conditions	163
5.3.2.2	Progress and Prospects	165
5.4	Transfer	167
5.4.1	Transfer under EU-China BITs	168
5.4.1.1	Types of Payments Covered	168
5.4.1.2	Currency Convertibility and Exchange Rate	169
5.4.1.3	Restrictions and Limitations on Transfer	172

5.4.2	Transfer under Chinese Law	173
5.4.2.1	Repatriation of Foreign Investments and Returns	173
5.4.2.2	Currency Convertibility and Exchange Rate	174
5.5	Conclusion	175
6	Expropriation and Compensation	177
6.1	Expropriation and Compensation under International Law	177
6.1.1	The ‘Traditional’ Rule	179
6.1.2	Challenges to the ‘Traditional’ Rule	180
6.1.3	Efforts to Create a New Rule	181
6.1.4	BIT by BIT: Has the Proliferation of Investment Agreements Constituted a Complete Reversal to the ‘Traditional’ Rule?	187
6.2	The Law of Expropriation and Compensation of EU Investment in China	192
6.2.1	Chinese Law	192
6.2.2	The EU-China BITs	193
6.2.2.1	The Constitution of Expropriation	193
6.2.2.2	Conditions of Expropriation	197
6.2.2.3	Compensation for Expropriation	199
6.3	Conclusion	203
7	Settlement of Disputes	205
7.1	Settlement of Investment Disputes	205
7.2	Settlement of Investment Disputes under EU-China BITs	210
7.2.1	Jurisdiction	210
7.2.1.1	Domestic or International Jurisdiction	210
7.2.1.2	International Arbitration and the Use of ICSID	211
7.2.2	Applicable Law	215
7.2.3	Summary	216
7.3	Settlement of Investment Disputes under the ICSID Convention	217
7.3.1	Jurisdiction	218
7.3.2	Applicable Law	221
7.3.3	Summary	223
7.4	Settlement of Investment Disputes under Chinese Law	223
7.4.1	Administrative Reconsideration and Litigation	224
7.4.2	Recent Cases	227
7.5	Subrogation and Investment Insurance	229

7.5.1	Subrogation under EU-China BITs	230
7.5.2	Investment Insurance under MIGA Convention	234
	7.5.2.1 Scope of Covered Risks	234
	7.5.2.2 Eligibility Requirements	238
	7.5.2.3 Subrogation	240
	7.5.2.4 Summary	241
7.5.3	Investment Insurance Provided by the People's Insurance Company of China (PICC)	241
7.6	Conclusion	242
7.7	Conclusion to Part II	243
Part III The Current Legal Framework of EU Investment in China: The Question of Effectiveness		245
8	The Current Legal Framework of EU Investment in China: The Question of Effectiveness	247
8.1	The Role of Law in Investment Decision-Making	247
	8.1.1 The Relative Importance of Law as a Determinant of Investment Decision	248
	8.1.2 Investigation of Law before Investment	248
	8.1.3 Importance of Incentives on Investment Decision-Making	251
	8.1.4 Summary	252
8.2	Effectiveness of the Chinese Legal System	253
	8.2.1 Accessibility of Law	253
	8.2.2 Stability of Law	254
	8.2.3 Government Enforcement of Law	255
	8.2.3.1 Consistency of Government Law Enforcement	255
	8.2.3.2 Need for Bribery to Deal with Government Officials	256
	8.2.4 Court Enforcement of Law	257
	8.2.4.1 Objectivity of Courts Law Enforcement	257
	8.2.4.2 Possibility of Bribing Judges	258
	8.2.4.3 Political Interference in Court Decisions	258
	8.2.4.4 Delays in Court and Arbitration Procedures	259
	8.2.5 Enforcement of Court and Arbitration Decisions	260
	8.2.6 Measuring the FDI Legal System in China against the Ideal Institutional Paradigm	261
8.3	Conclusions	263

Part IV Towards a New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	265
9 Towards a New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	267
9.1 The Need for a New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	267
9.2 The Possibility of a New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	269
9.3 The Forms of a New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	270
9.3.1 Multilateral Approach: A MIA to which the EU and China are Parties	270
9.3.1.1 The Choice of Forum	271
9.3.1.2 The Full Participation of Interested Parties	273
9.3.1.3 The Balance of Interests	274
9.3.2 Bilateral Approach: A BIT between the EU and China	277
9.3.2.1 EU-China BIT as a Sectoral Agreement	277
9.3.2.2 EU-China BIT as a ‘Built-in Section’ within the Framework Agreement	278
9.3.3 An EU-China BIT and then an MIA?	279
9.4 Substantive Issues of the New International Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations	279
9.4.1 A Liberal Admission Regime	281
9.4.1.1 EU’s Attitude towards Investment Admission	281
9.4.1.2 Chinese Attitude towards Investment Admission	283
9.4.1.3 Possible Compromise on Investment Admission in the NILF	285
9.4.2 Post-Establishment National Treatment	287
9.4.3 ‘Adequate, Prompt and Effective’ Compensation for Expropriation	288
9.4.4 Automatic Submission of Investment Disputes to International Fora	290
9.4.4.1 Automatic Submission of Non-AOC Disputes	290
9.4.4.2 Submission of Disputes to Other International Arbitration Institutions	291
9.4.5 Social Issues	291
9.4.5.1 Human Rights	291
9.4.5.2 Labour and Environmental Standards	292
9.5 Conclusion	293

Part V The Legal Framework of Investment Relations Between China and the New EU Member States	295
10 The Legal Framework of Investment Relations between China and the New EU Member States	297
10.1 Trade and Investment Relations between China and the EU 10 States	298
10.1.1 Trade and Investment Relations between China and the EU 10 States	298
10.1.1.1 Cyprus	298
10.1.1.2 Czech Republic	298
10.1.1.3 Estonia	299
10.1.1.4 Hungary	299
10.1.1.5 Latvia	300
10.1.1.6 Lithuania	300
10.1.1.7 Malta	301
10.1.1.8 Poland	301
10.1.1.9 Slovakia	302
10.1.1.10 Slovenia	302
10.1.2 Overview and Implication on General EU-China Investment and Trade Relations	303
10.2 The Legal Framework of Investment Relations between China and the EU 10 States	305
10.2.1 Multilateral Agreements to which China and the EU 10 States are Parties	305
10.2.1.1 The ICSID Convention	306
10.2.1.2 The MIGA Convention	306
10.2.1.3 The WTO Agreements	307
10.2.2 Bilateral Agreements between China and the EU 10 States	308
10.2.3 Domestic Laws of China and the EU 10 States	308
10.2.4 Summary	308
10.3 The Bilateral Investment Treaties between China and the EU 10 States	309
10.3.1 Admission	310
10.3.2 Standards of Treatment	311
10.3.2.1 General Standards of Treatment	311
10.3.2.2 Monetary Transfers	312
10.3.3 Expropriation and Compensation	315
10.3.3.1 Constitution and Conditions	315
10.3.3.2 Compensation	317
10.3.4 Subrogation	317
10.3.5 Dispute Settlement	320

10.3.5.1	State-State Disputes	320
10.3.5.2	State-Investors Disputes	320
10.3.6	Summary	324
10.4	Conclusion	325
Appendix I: Questionnaire on Law and European Investment in China		329
Appendix II: Scores Allocated to Questionnaire Responses to the Effectiveness of FDI Legal System in China		336
Bibliography		339
Index		359